

RAYNOR DEFENDS TAFT'S ACTIONS AS TO MEXICO

DEMOCRATIC SENATOR TALKS ON PRESIDENT'S ATTITUDE AS TO MEXICAN SITUATION.

EXPLAINS MONROE DOCTRINE

Says It Should Not Be Coufounded
With the Doctrine Promulgated
By Roosevelt During His Term in Office.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, April 13.—The first expression in congress concerning the situation on the Mexican border was heard today when Senator Raynor of Maryland addressed the senate on that subject. Although a democrat,
Mr. Raynor spoke in confidence of the attitude of President Taft and expressed the opinion that there would be no war with either Mexico or Japan.

While he did not so express himself in exact terms it was evident that Mr. Raynor had in mind the reports that Japan is exerting herself to procure a coaling station on the Pacific coast of Mexico. He said:

"I am willing to admit that if Japan
is entering into negotiations for coaling stations the bases for naval supplies for military purposes with Mexico, we are entitled to know what these negotiations are. Congress is,
however, without any information or evidence upon the subject. This country would not ordinarily be entitled to know the secret treaties or alliances that other countries may make, but upon the part of Mexico we would unquestionably be entitled to an explanation." He added that he had no fear this history may repeat itself, or that any government would attempt to imitate the example of Napoleon III., "who through false processes and subterfuges sent an Austrian archduke to a Mexican throne simply to abandon him afterwards to despair and death." "It is a confusion of the issue," he said, "that Japan does not seek war with the United States and declared that there could be no cause for hostilities between the two countries."

Discrediting the report that Japan
might desire to take surreptitious possessions of the island of Guam as a coaling station, he declared that if such was the purpose it could not be justified under international law. He found in Guam usefulness only as a cable base, and, speaking sarcastically
of the island, said:

"Guam is a charming spot, and one of the most lustrous and brilliant jewels in our Oriental galaxy. Its principal products are vipers, snakes,
lizards, wild swine, rats and cancer
oil, and if the island were put up at auction today, with all of the inhabitants in it, beyond its value as a military post, it would not bring a dollar and a half in any of the markets of the world."

Much of the Maryland senator's speech was devoted to the contention that the Monroe doctrine is not included in the Mexican situation.
Quoting authorities to show that the original Monroeism looked only to the prevention of the establishment of new monarchial institutions in the western hemisphere, he sought to discredit the position in relation to the collection of claims against western nations taken during the Roosevelt administration in the Santo Domingo controversy. This he characterized as the "Roosevelt doctrine," rather than the Monroe doctrine. He said in part:

"Let us look for a moment at what sort of wars we would have if the Roosevelt construction of the Monroe doctrine was to prevail. It was to be incorporated into our diplomatic code.
We would have an international succession of bondholders and stock market wars. War, instead of being declared by congress, could be practically declared by the banking syn-dicates of London, Paris, Amsterdam, and Berlin, represented by their financial agents in America and we would become sponsors and guaran-tors for every bankrupt and impoverished government in Central and South America. We have never as yet been informed as to what amount of money was made out of the Santo Domingo settlement nor what was the price at which their bonds were sold before our intervention, and what was the price that the holders afterwards obtained for them in settlement of their claims, nor who was the dealer,
nor who were the beneficiaries of our interference."

"I will not sit here in silence, with folded arms, and permit this revolutionary principle which was formulated and promulgated overnight by Mr. Roosevelt to be known by any other name except the name of the Hippocratic individual who first conceived it and put it into practical execution. I want to lift this cloud from around the brow of the rising generation."

Speaking of the President, Mr.
Raynor expressed satisfaction that "whatever he does will not only be necessary and proper, but, in his opinion, will be for the best interests of this country."

ARGUMENTS HEARD IN MINING CASES

panies With Calumet & Hecla

today which declare the value of $12-000,000 assigned to Calumet & Hecla

FIGHT EXPECTED ON BILL TO AMEND THE STATE CONSTITUTION

Strife in Legislature Over Attempt to Change Constitution Regarding Testifying of Persons in Own Behalf.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 13.—[Removal from the declaration of rights in the state constitution of the provision that no person shall be compelled to testify against himself in a trial, as proposed in a joint resolution by Senator Kilman and argued before the assembly committee on constitutional amendment, is going to cause a hot fight on the assembly floor. The measure doubtless will be recommended for concurrence by the committee, with Weber, social democrat, dissenting, but it probably will go through by a fair margin.

The proponents of the bill were several lawyers and one circuit judge representing the American Institute of Criminology—Prof. W. U. Moore and E. A. Gilmore of the college of law of the state university, and Judge E.
Ray Stevens of Madison, while Edward Zabel, recently elected social democratic district attorney of Milwaukee county, vigorously opposed it.

The proposed amendment is based on the ground that it is a relic of medieval times and constitutes the extension of too large a degree of protection around the alleged criminal. It was asserted that it is almost axiomatic in the law that whoever should put him on the stand voluntarily,
so that no innocent man is likely to be harmed by the operation of a clause permitting the prosecutor to call him as an adverse witness.

Prof. Gilmore called attention to the present cry that crime is increasing and to President Taft's denunciation of the fact that the administration of justice in criminal cases is deplorably
failing and a disgrace.

"The prisoner nowadays is playing with loaded dice," he declared, "and the public is not protected."

He took issue with the statement of District Attorney Zabel that only 35 per cent of the criminals are now convicted under the present rules.

The hearing was continued by several passages at arms between Assemblyman Weber and the legal lights favoring the amendment, during which Weber maintained that the measure was not proposed in good faith. He said that while it was assumed that its adoption would enable the law to reach the high class or corporation criminal, it would work the greatest hardship on the poorer classes. In this connection he called attention to the fact that his bill against the "third degree" had been killed and that this action indicated the temper of the legislature in the matter of protecting
the poor man accused of a crime.
Without knowing all who were present, including Judge Stevens, he asserted that "our courts are controlled by the corporations—95 per cent of them."

WOULD PUT STOP TO GAMBLING IN COTTON FUTURES

Rep. Burleson of Texas Has Issued
Warning To New York Exchange
To Stop Practice Or Destruction Will Follow.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—Warning to the New York cotton exchange and other similar institutions that they must stop gambling or be destroyed has been served by Representative Burleson, (Dem. Tex.) in the following statement written for the United Press:

"Something must be done, and at once, to stop gambling in cotton futures, and the duty devolves upon this congress. A disposition has been manifested on the part of one of the exchanges to reform its rules and methods so as to minimize the effects of the evil of cotton gambling, but the great controlling exchange (The New York Cotton exchange) has persistently refused to do anything indicating even a desire to eliminate control to meet the recommendations of the Bureau of Corporations which has clearly pointed out what should be done to protect the producer of cotton
from illegitimate cotton speculation."

"I have introduced a bill which I believe will remedy the evil. My bill denies the use of the telegraph and telephone lines between states for the transmission of messages relating to contracts for further delivery where there is no intention on the part of the seller to deliver the cotton or the buyer to receive it."

"The measure will not interfere with legitimate trading in cotton, but will stop those transactions which have been repeatedly declared by our court
of last resort not only illegal but against public policy."

"I think I understand the sentiment of members of congress on this subject and I don't hesitate to say that in my opinion if the exchange refuse to reform their methods they will be destroyed."

Want Ads Are "Pullers"

Psychologists reason that the "pulling power" of an advertisement depends on a great deal upon the mental attitude of the readers.

One reason why Want Ads
have such remarkable pulling power is the fact that the mental attitude of a large percentage of Want Ad
readers is favorably inclined towards some particular classification of the wants.

Many Want Ad readers are looking for definite information that is conveniently grouped under some of the various headings of the Want Columns.

Gazette Want Ads are wonderfully resultful—and they

ARGUMENTS HEARD ON DEMURRERS IN ANTI-TRUST CASES

Chicago Packers Fighting to Quash
Indictments Against Them for Alleged Anti-Trust Law Violations.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., April 13.—Demur-rers in the Government's case against the Chicago meat packers charged in three Federal indictments with violations of the Sherman anti-trust law
and with conspiracy in restraint of trade came up for argument today before United States District Judge George A. Carpenter. In their demur-rers the packers contend that the antitrust act of 1890 under which all monopoly suits are brought in the United States, does not create any crime.

Chronology of Federal Probe
of Packers.

- 1907—Indictment issued by Judge Grosscup restraining packers from combining.
- Feb. 20, 1907—Investigation of alleged combine begun.
- July 4, 1907—Sixteen packers and four companies indicted.
- March 21, 1908—Judge Humphrey's
famous "immunity bath" ruling freeing packers.
- 1909—Second investigation started.
- March 21, 1910—Indictment returned against National Packing Co.
and ten subsidiary concerns and bill in equity filed asking that the National Packing Co. be dissolved.
- June 21, 1910—Indictment against National Packing Co. "knocked out" by Judge Landis and special grand jury ordered to renew investigation.
- July 14, 1910—Grand jury impan-
eled and hearing started.
- Nov. 12, 1910—Ten packers indicted.
- March 23, 1911—Indictments sustained by Judge Carpenter.
- April 1, 1911—Demurriers to indictment filed in United States District Court.
- April 13, 1911—Demurriers came
up for argument.

The basis for this contention is "that the statute does not define any offense against the United States with sufficient certainty to inform the defendants of the nature of the crime or offense with which they are charged;
and the same in so far as it undertakes to create a crime is invalid,
void, and contrary to the United States constitution." The demurriers also contend that "the description of the offense contained in this action, on which the indictment is based, is not one by which the defendants were or are able to know, in advance, whether the acts were criminal or not." The indictments are also attacked as of faulty preparation.

It appears to be the general belief
here that the counsel for the packers have exhausted every resource known to the law in the eight years' fight
to escape trial and that unless unexpected complications arise the indicted
members of the so-called beef trust will be hauled to the bar within the next few weeks.

Prosecutors for the Department of Justice and the great corps of attorneys for the defense are planning the greatest legal battle ever waged in a Federal Court. From the standpoint of the Department of Justice
the case will break all records in volume of testimony. Already more than one hundred witnesses have been summoned.

The majority of witnesses to be called are retail and wholesale meat dealers, former officials of the Chicago packing companies and out-of-town packers. Many already have given evidence before the Federal grand jury
concerning the true bills.

The $15,000,000 corporation known as the National Packing Company will bear the brunt of the attack on the part of the government. It is alleged to be the holding company for the various packing concerns of Chicago.

ILLINOIS ASSEMBLY RESUMED ITS FIGHT ON COUNTY OPTION

"Wet" Bill Repealing Township Option Was Placed on Its Third Reading Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Springfield, Ill., April 13.—The
"wet" and "dry" fight in the house
was resumed today when the County option bill was placed upon its third reading. The "wet" bill which repeals the present township option will be placed upon passage soon -- the "dry"
bill which carries the county option is disposed of. Speaker Adkins gave free rein to the arguments on both sides and many speeches were made.
The debate at times was bitter and when concluded the County option bill
was killed by a vote of 52 to 65.

Law Stands Unchanged.

The roll call was reached at noon
after one o'clock, after three hours of debate.

Immediately following the defeat of the "dry" bill, the House proceeded to a roll call on the "wet" bill.

By a vote of 61 to 50 the "wet" bill repealing the present township local option law was defeated.

Members who on the former roll
call opposed county option, switched when the roll call was reached on the
"wet" bill and by their action leave
the present law on local option unchanged.

TALKS ON SUBJECT OF RECALL SYSTEM

Democratic Congressman Wants Radical Action Taken in Relation To Direct Vote For Senators.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—In vigorous support of the principle of the recall of public officer Representative Sims, a democrat declared in the house today, that only in the interests of democratic harmony did he refrain from offering a recall amendment to the bill for direct election of Senators then pending. Sims made an impassioned appeal for the initiative referendum and recall.

That the election of "Trust buster"
Kenyon, to the United States from Iowa, the Doolittle seat may prove a severe blow to the government's promotion of the "trust" was the opinion expressed at the department of justice today. Attorney general Wickersham announced that Kenyon
will withhold his resignation and defer qualifying as Senator until the change can be effected without injury to the work of the department in his charge.

Immediately after the House convoked today Rep. Rucker, democrat from Mo., called up the joint resolution providing for a constitutional amendment to elect U. S. Senators by direct vote of the people. The democratic house then began its first legislative work.

CONTEST OVER BILL TO CREATE TOWN IN HAYWARD VICINITY

Madison, Wis., April 13.—The specter of Edward Hines, lumber magnate of political fame in connection with the alleged lobbying in behalf of Senator Lorimer of Illinois and the collection of a slush fund for that senator, stalked in the assembly yesterday afternoon, just long enough to persuade a majority of the lower house
to pass a bill to create a new town adjacent to the scene of the alleged
"John Dill" cabin. Ordinarily such a measure would be regarded as a local matter and attract no attention,
but in this case Lumberman Hines was alleged to be against the bill and the Weyerhaeuser lumber interests
first for it then against it, and therefore suspicion rested upon the measure. Senator Hanbush's bill creating the town of Round Lake out of nine townships bordering on the unincorporated village of Hayward was sent to engrossment by the close vote of 46 to 44, after a debate that the authenticated statement that the author of the bill had changed his mind after it had passed the senate and wanted it killed. It was on the calendar for concurrence and as senator J. H. Smith, in whose district the territory affected lies, made a serious fight to have it indefinitely postponed, declaring there were not enough bona fide settlers in the district to fill all the offices of town government. He said he had a petition presented by forty-four residents of the district, indicating that they no longer desired the passage of the bill,
and said that even the Weyerhaeuser interests, which had favored it, also were satisfied to have it killed.

Speaker Ingram took the floor again
and asserted that it was a matter of simple justice that the people in the town outside of Hayward should be given an opportunity of separating themselves from the "village" of Hayward, with its high taxes, none of which went for the improvement of the district outside the "villages."
Hayward, he said, has paved streets,
electric lights and waterworks, while the other nine townships, comprising
a territory of as many square miles, gained no benefit but contributed to the upkeep of the paved streets, etc.
An assessor, friendly to the Weyerhaeuser interests, he declared, managed to overlook Weyerhaeuser property, with the result that the poorer property owners are mulcted to pay the assessments.

An amendment fixing the time at which the proposed law is to go into effect was adopted, which, if the bill receives final passage, will send it back to the senate for concurrence.
There Senator Sanborn, if he be so disposed, will be able to secure its burial. A motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was advanced
is pending in the house.

The assembly cleaned up half its long Wednesday calendar, leaving the rest for today. Important among the measures advanced was the Gilboy bill requiring railroad companies to maintain gates, flagmen or warning signals at every grade crossing in the state where a view of 2,500 feet of the track is obstructed for a person standing within 50 feet of the track on either side of the crossing. This bill had been recommended for death by the transportation committee.

cause of the launching of the new organization and will assist in every

cess of the cause within the state.
Advocates of "Votes for Women" were further elated today when the committee on elections of the assembly planned to report for passage the James woman's suffrage bill favorable. The measure has already passed the Senate and will come before the House early next week as sixty-five of the one hundred members are pledged to support the measure its success is assured.

General Opinion Is That Average Acreage Will Be Planted, Seed Is Being Sown By Farmers.

Practically all the 1910 tobacco crop has been delivered and the larger amount of the same has been sorted. About the only firm here to receive any large amount is the American Tobacco Company who will have goods from about 150 acres to be brought in during the month. All of this has been weighed up in the sheds and settled for and the delivery is all that remains for the grower to do.

All of the 1910 purchases have been received at the P. S. Balmes warehouse with the exception of some 50,000 pounds which was bought in Pennsylvania and which is expected here within the next few days. This week has been a busy one at this house in the receiving line as all outstanding crops in this section have been delivered. This has totaled to about 50,000 pounds for the week. The estimated amount of the new crop received by Mr. Balmes to date is a million and a half pounds.

At the Balmes' warehouse a million of the crop will be sorted from this time on which will be the sweet room. Practically all of the short grades will be treated in this way and two large bulks have already been made. By this method a uniform color and sweetening is secured which is much more satisfactory than in the cases. Each bulk will be turned three times in the course of the summer so that the entire tobacco thus treated will be uniform in quality as far as this is possible. The bulks are kept heated to about 110 degrees F.

At the end of this week two more warehouses here will have completed the work of sorting the 1910 crop. They are the houses of Sanford Sover, Hill and Johnson for the past twelve weeks. T. E. Welch has had his trucking job week and has between 350 and 400 cases of the new crop.

This will leave only four firms here with sorting facilities. The American, Hinkins and Schwartz, P. S. Balmes and N. L. Carlo. It is probable that the work at these places will continue for four or five weeks longer.

Harry Keller, local representative of the American, received quite a large amount of goods during the past week including two car loads from N. L. Carlo, which were bought late in season. He also shipped out two car loads which were received here. In the handle to Madison, where they will be handled at the largest factory. Probably the strongest force of men and women have been employed at the American warehouse this season of any in the city. The weekly pay roll has amounted to about $500 a week throughout the season and some weeks bettering that amount.

There has been practically no movement in old goods at this point the past week. Shipments out of storage amounted to only a few carloads and included one car of 10 low grades from the Welch warehouse and one car of old crop shipped by P. S. Balmes.

With the favorable weather of the present week many of the growers have started sprouting their seed and not a few have made their beds and sown the seed. According to present indications there will be about the average crop raised in this section. However, as in every year much will depend upon the success in raising the plants as well as the weather of the coming summer. In the northern sections where better prices were secured for the 1910 crop it is reported that there will be a large acreage. It is noticeable here, however, that farmers do not rebuild their sheds in very many cases and as the cost of lumber is high there are very few new structures erected for the accommodation of larger crops.

The soil in this locality is in excellent shape for working and if the warm weather continues with the moisture of the recent rains tobacco plants as well as the other farm crops will grow rapidly. It is recommended by many of the buyers that the farmers rotate the crops on their tobacco land more generally, as many places of land in Rock county have raised tobacco for years and years without a single relief crop. This is not only tending to lower the quality of all succeeding crops even if fertilizer is freely applied, but it will deplete the land as well. Growers who have tried the rotation of crops on their tobacco land have not with pronounced success indicating that this is as important with this crop as in the case of corn and other grain crops.

Stoughton, Wis., April 13.—Sorting of tobacco will close on Saturday at the American Cigar Company's warehouse. Fifteen weeks have been spent in sorting tobacco and over $20,000 has been paid in wages in that time. The help was mostly female. SAFE WAS APACHE-PROOF

Even When the Indians Pushed It Off a Cliff It Protected the Government Funds.

Years ago in the west, when the government sent out safes for the use of its army paymasters in remote districts, it was the custom for the paymaster in cavalry service to ride
in an ambulance with the safe, escorted by a guard of six mounted men.

On one occasion such a guard was attacked by a large force of Apache Indians. Two men were killed, and the Indians captured the ambulance with the safe. The safe contained about $8,000 in greenbacks. It weighed some four hundred pounds,
and had a combination lock. Now the Indians had never seen a safe at close quarters, but they knew that it contained money. Also, they wanted that money.

They first pounded off the knob
with stones, under the impression that the door could then be pried
open. Their attempt was, of course, a failure. The next step was to try their tomahawks on the chilled steel,
in the hope that a hole might be cut in it. This means, too, proved of no avail, so they determined to try fire.

Accordingly, they gave the safe a three-hour roasting. Luckily for the government, it was fireproof. They threw big rocks upon it while it was hot, but they were as far from the money as ever.

Next the Apaches dragged the safe
up the side of a mountain and tum-bled it over a precipice two hundred feet high. They expected, of course, to see it burst open, but the only damage was a slight injury to one of the wheels. The safe was left bouncing in the river for three or four days, and great was the Indians' disappointment at finding themselves
still baffled.

Then they tried gunpowder, but knowing nothing of the art of blasting, they brought about an explosion
that burned half a dozen warriors and left the safe none the worse. The Indians worked over that safe, off and on, for a month or more, but failed to get at the inside. Finally, in disgust, they left it in a deep ravine.

Fourteen months later, when peace
came, the army found the safe. It was lying in the bed of a creek with a great pile of driftwood around it.
It was a sad-looking safe, but when opened showed its contents intact.—

Ford

Every Fifth Car Sold in This Country Is a FORD Model T

This Is Intensely Significant of Established Value

There are more than 75,000 Ford Cars in actual service today.

There are mighty powerful reasons for the universal popularity of Ford Cars. First: the wonderful simplicity in design, coupled with remarkable strength in mechanical construction—the product of the brain of Henry Ford, that marvelous genius of the automobile world, whose faculty of concentration of scientific principle and knowledge of mechanics has given to the world in the FORD Model T chassis a powerful motor car, that is as simple in its operation as an ordinary toy pistol.

Made of Vanadium Steel (Vanadium is an alloy found in Peru. Six per cent of Vanadium added to the molten metal increases the stress of the best carbon steel 85 tons per square inch, and gives to the molecule a fiber which prevents crystallization under vibration, thus insuring the utmost of strength, pliability, resistance and durability). You can lift a Ford Model T from the ground by the fore fender iron, but it is the only car in the world that can be so lifted, because no other car in all the world is made entirely of Vanadium steel.

The FORD Model T weighs about 1,200 pounds. It is the lightest car in the world, size, power and capacity considered. This means economy in operation, because it costs less in gasoline and it costs less in tires; there is less difficulty in covering heavy, rough roads and climbing hills, in all of which the FORD Model T excels.

FORD Model T Touring Car

ator, Ford Magneto, built in the motor; three Oil Lamps, Horn and Tools, for $780.

This same car with Three Oil Lamps, Horn and Tools, $700.

It is the only car with the Magneto an integral part of the motor. This is another stroke of Henry Ford's genius.
Ignition causes more than half the troubles the motor car owner encounters. The FORD Magneto—built into the motor does away with ignition troubles, insures combustion under all circumstances, requires no attention. When the motor runs the Magneto runs, and when the Magneto runs the motor runs—rain or shine, night or day, up hill or down hill, rough roads or asphalt boulevards, the Ford Magneto, built into the motor, never misses a spark.

The FORD Model T is the only 4-cylinder car in the world at the same low price.

The FORD Model T comes to the purchaser with full equipment; no extras to buy.

These are some of the reasons why every fifth car sold in this country today is a FORD Model T, and are sufficient reasons why you should buy a FORD Model T; that is, if you want a car that meets every requirement of pleasure and business at a minimum of expense and trouble.

Ford Service for Ford Owners is not only prompt, courteous and economical, but as universal as the sales of Ford cars.
Ask the owners of Ford cars about this complete, this satisfying Ford Service for Ford Owners.

Come in; let us go over the mechanical construction of the FORD Model T; let us point out the superiority of the 3 point suspension, of the springs, the axles and transmission, of the Ford oiling system, of the wonderful flexibility of the mechanism, of the ease of control—never have to take the hands from the wheel—control is regulated with the feet.
Enjoy a ride, get a practical demonstration of the luxury that goes with the FORD Model T.

In the second game Mason's team defeated Dalton's 10 to 5. On Saturday evening Garbutt's team will meet the aggregate team captained by Mason and Dalton.

The "A" Juniors have four teams in their league and will play the first game tonight. Teams captained by Horn and Welsh will meet and will also those led by Lowry and Taylor.

Danger in Ambition.
The history of the past is useful only as used by one of America's purest patriots, Patrick Henry, as a light to guide us in our present path. The examples of ambition from Abraham down to our day are useful as indicating to us the characteristics of the ambition that is dangerous from that which is beneficial. The personal element too much emphasized is one of the most common notes of the ambition that is dangerous.

Unique Example of Thrift.
By dint of extraordinary saving an octogenarian woman named Enzer, who has just died in South Germany, has achieved a record. The woman, the widow of a railway station master, had been blind since her thirty-eighth year. Many years ago she arranged with her housekeeper that they should between them spend only twenty cents a day for all their requirements. The woman's will has now revealed an estate of $125,000.

Immense American Tonnage.
On the railroads of the United States there are 100,000 engines, carrying millions of cars and hauling 2,000,000,000 tons of freight. This practically equals all the tonnage carried by all the railroads and ships of the rest of the world.

NOVEL METHOD OF TESTING CIRCUITS

Wisconsin Telephone Company Use Telephone Attached to Dugby to Determine Efficiency of New Wiring System.

Can you telephone from a buggy? If anyone springs the question you may answer yes and not necessarily be "failing" for any state sag that originated about the time Noah left the ark. The Wisconsin Telephone company has demonstrated this fact and by putting it to a practical use in the city. The company is putting in a new system of wiring, changing from the open wire, which necessitates the ringing of the bell to call the central office, to the central energy or common battery system, whereby the lifting of the receiver from the hook rings central. In order to determine whether the connections have been made properly or not, after the new system is installed in various parts of the city, tests are made. An ordinary telephone, fastened to the rear of an open rig has been used for this purpose. The lineman doing the testing connects the phone with one of the terminal boxes, placed at intervals along the lines of the company, rings up the chief operator at the central office and from there the test of the efficiency of the service is made.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE DUE TO LOVE AFFAIR

Canary Fond of Music.
From Kilburn, England, comes a story of a canary which has an extraordinary fondness for music. The bird was bought about sixteen months ago by Mr. Pritchard of Kilburn from a foreigner in London. Mr. Pritchard gave it to his little son, and Master John found that his new pet was surprisingly tame, and that when he played his violin the bird grew quite cross if it were not allowed to get as near as possible to the source of the music. Now the canary perches on the bow while its master plays. When John's sister plays the piano, it settles on the keys, holding the little girl's fingers cleverly, and thus moving up and down the keyboard throughout the performance.

Washington, April 13.—Initial steps to bring about peace in Mexico, comprising various informal advances that thus far have been made to that end, were taken here.

Dr. Vazquez Gomez, head of the confidential agency of the revolutionists in the United States, who recently was designated by Francisco I. Madero, leader of the insurrection, as the only person besides himself who was empowered to receive or initiate peace proposals, announced that he had completed special arrangements for expeditious telegraphic communication between the camp of Madero in Chihuahua and Washington.

First Message Is Sent.

The results of the telegraphic conference with his colleagues, which will include a definite set of terms by which peace may be effected, will be transmitted by Dr. Gomez to Mexico City.

The first message from Dr. Gomez to Madero was sent in the cipher of the revolutionists and an answer is expected within twenty-four hours. The assurances have been given by the various authorities concerned that the messages will have right of way over the Mexican telegraph lines.

Rebels Appear Before Cananea.

Augusta Prieta, Mexico, April 13.—The combined force of rebels under Juan Cabral, Antonio Garcia and Ricardo Romero appeared suddenly before Cananea today. Three brigades between Naco and Cananea on the railroad were burned and were out. All communication was thus suspended. No trains arrived in Naco today.

The federal force of 1,100 men, including 200 cavalry, under command of Media Barron and other leaders, which went out from Cananea a few days ago, entered Arizpe to find the rebels gone. The rebels retired to Huachuco, south of Cananea. This probably means that an immediate attempt will be made to capture the city.

Mexico Improving Its Army.

Mexico City, April 13.—Regardless of all the talk of peace, Mexico's department of war is rapidly placing its fighting machinery in the best condition possible. Francisco I. Madero may yet be induced to agree to terms which do not include the resignation of President Diaz, or, it is said, his following may be taken from him by those who are spreading the propaganda of peace.

REST AND RELAX.

Alone!

Do you know there are a lot of people who pronounce that word with fear? To be alone, if only for a short time, is regarded as a bore, if not worse.

You wonder why?

Because they have never become acquainted with themselves and do not know how to entertain themselves for a single hour. They really need to be introduced to themselves.

Solitude?

There is need of it. The mere friction of mingling with other persons becomes wearisome, however little one may realize it. And there can be no real culture of self except there be occasional solitude.

Watch the faces on the street. See the set expression, the lines of solicitude and weariness, the worn looks. How seldom you see a calm and happy face!

I saw one phlegm face the other day. It was the face of a woman I know. And I know the cause of her calmness and poise.

She is a woman with a good sized family and many cares, but she is careful to take a certain hour to be alone for a short time each day, when she lies down for rest and relaxation.

Husband and children know and respect her moments of quiet withdrawal. They know she is the sweeter and better wife and mother because of that stated rest of mind and body.

Another instance:

A Chicago business man of very large affairs lunches alone not because he is stingy, but because he finds strength in a quiet moment by himself. His associates understand and do not disturb him.

And another:

A lex studies lawyer in active practice of eighty years says the secret of his vitality is in a five minutes' nap he has taken in the middle of the day for the past fifty years.

Practice being alone.

Under the strain and tax of household duties the delicate nervous system of women especially becomes overwrought. Rest and relaxation come as a benediction to the tired spirit.

Alone you can think your best thoughts and work out your special problems.

All great men and women have cultivated solitude.

Alone they have gained victories over self and have then been able to face a frowning world with cheerful effort.

How Matches Are Made.

Certain kinds of matches are shaved with the grain from saved blocks; others are cut both ways by saws. In still further varieties the blocks are bored to make them cut easily. By some machines a bored or stemmed log is revolved on its own axis, and a shaver the thickness of a match is cut round and round. This shaving is at the same time cut into lengths and split into match sticks. It may be said that there is hardly a limit to the varieties of methods employed. Round matches are made by forcing them through dies.—Harper's Weekly

New Species of Potato.

A new species of white potato has for some years been cultivated in France from plants found in Uruguay. Originally a very bitter tuber, the South American vegetable became, after three or four years of cultivation, an admirable food product. Its yield is enormous, and it is exempt from the mildew that attacks the ordinary potato. It grows best in moist soil, its native habitat being the marshy shores of the River Mercedes in Uruguay. Its flowers have a jasmine-like odor, and a delicate perfume has been extracted from them. After one planting the plant perpetuates itself from the broken roots left in the soil.

Swindling Begging Letters.

Out of 1,558 begging letters received in London by a charitable association, 87 per cent. were found to have come from swindlers, and of the remaining 13 per cent. only five per cent. were found to be really destitute.

Children Joined in Wedding.

Briton Ferry, in Glamorganshire, England, claims to hold the record for juvenility in marriage. Quite recently a man of fourteen years married a woman of less than thirteen, and now a youth of twenty-six has married a wife of twelve and a half. She went on her honeymoon in a short frock and traveled at half fare!

Matches Not By-Products.

It is not to be assumed that, by reason of the smallness of matches, the makers thereof ever utilize scraps or bits of wood left over. The contrary is the case. Matches are not by-products. Any wood rejected by the match machine goes to the by-product establishment, and of these by-products of the match business may be mentioned some, such as doors and sashes, that in some instances form an industry as important as the match industry itself.

MRS. CHESTER H. ALDRICH.
NEW MISTRESS OF NEBRASKA'S EXECUTIVE MANSION.

Lincoln, Neb.—Mrs. Chester H. Aldrich, wife of Nebraska's new governor, is a suffragist, an active worker in the temperance cause, interested in literary clubs, devoted to the work of the Women's Relief Corps, and a member of the Order of the Eastern Star. First and foremost Mrs. Aldrich is a home woman. "My home comes before anything else in the world," she declares, "and after that, my church." She was reared in a church atmosphere and was taught to take the work seriously. Since a very young girl she has been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Mrs. Aldrich is a careful student, particularly of essays and lectures. She is interested in current events and keeps abreast with the times by being well informed upon the affairs of the day.

The new mistress of the executive mansion at Lincoln, is not what the world calls a society woman. She does not dance or play cards, but is, however, very fond of entertaining company in the home. So far all the affairs at the mansion under the Aldrich administration have been very informal. Mrs. Aldrich holds an informal reception every Friday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. These "at homes" are very well attended and are characterized by a marked informality. Not even a cup of tea is served at Mrs. Aldrich's informal reception. It is a duty would add a formality to the day.

gathering, the very thing she wishes to avoid.

With Mrs. Aldrich the word "home" is spelled with capital letters. She is the devoted mother of four stalwart sons, with whom she is very companionable. She enters actively into all their interests and endeavors in every way to make their home the most attractive place in the world. "Our home is the center of our social life," declares Mrs. Aldrich. "We love to have our friends come to see us. We lead the same life as that enjoyed by any other happy family. We all love our home and although added responsibilities have come to us, we want the atmosphere to remain the same as that which characterized our home in David City."

It is only recently that Mrs. Aldrich has given her support to the cause of equal suffrage. In discussing the subject she says, "I am more fully convinced now than ever before that it is woman's duty to take up any line of work where she can better conditions. I firmly believe that with the right of suffrage, women can greatly help along many lines of civic improvement. When it comes to a woman being too busy to add another responsibility to her many cares, I think we can always find time to do one thing more, if by doing that one thing more we are going to help some one."

100 YEARS A CHURCH MEMBER—MRS. MARIE S. STURGEON, 104 YEARS OLD.

Muskegon, Mich.—One hundred years a church member is the remarkable record achieved by Mrs. Marie S. Sturgeon of this city, who has just observed her one hundred and fourth birthday anniversary. Mrs. Sturgeon's record is without a parallel in the United States, it is believed.

Born at St. Joseph's Point, Levee, near Quebec, in 1807, she was taken to church by her parents when she was only 4 years old. Since that time she has been a regular attendant.

In spite of her extreme age, Mrs. Sturgeon is able to read without glasses and boasts that she never has needed the services of a physician. She was married when 25 years of age, her maiden name being Gee. Eleven children were born to her of whom four sons still are living, the oldest, 77 years of age, being a resident of St. Jean, Canada.

Hauled Down Flag at Sumpter.
Los Angeles, Cal., April 12.—To at least one citizen of Los Angeles the fiftieth anniversary of the taking of Fort Sumpter recalled vivid personal recollections today. There has always been some doubt as to the identity of the man who fired the first shot in that famous fight, but there never has been a question as to the identity of the man, who on that 15th of April, 1861, lowered the American flag from over the fort in the first defeat suffered by the Union army in the civil war. The man was Lieutenant H. W. Hamner, now a resident of this city, and fifty years ago regimental quartermaster sergeant of the First Artillery, stationed at Fort Sumpter. Although having passed his three score years and ten, Colonel Hamner is hale and hearty, and his memory in regard to the taking of Fort Sumpter is wonderfully clear.

Hebrews Observe Passover Feast.
New York, April 12.—The celebration of the Jewish festival of Pesach, or the Passover, begins today and will continue among the orthodox Hebrews throughout the world for eight days. "This festival, which is known as the Feast of Unleavened Bread, was instituted to commemorate the departure of the Children of Israel from Egypt, under the leadership of Moses, when they had been held in bondage for upward of 400 years. In biblical times it was deemed a most important festival, on which all men were bound to go up to Jerusalem to keep the Passover and to make their offerings in the Temple."

The Way He'd Run It.
A bright little Medford had heard his parents talking about the salaries of teachers. "I don't see why they should pay the teachers," he said, very seriously, "when we children do all the work."—Boston Journal.

WESTERN TOWNS SWEEP BY STORM

Thirteen Known to Be Killed—
Many Are Injured.

TELEGRAPH WIRES ARE DOWN

Hail, Rain and Lightning Wipes Out
Whiting, Kan., and Big Heart, Okla.—Fort Leavenworth Also Is Damaged.

Kansas City, Mo., April 13.—A heavy windstorm, attaining the velocity of a tornado in some sections and accompanied by rain, hail and lightning, swept over western Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, killing thirteen persons, practically destroying two towns, injuring almost a hundred persons, wrecking scores of buildings and putting almost every telephone and telegraph wire in the territory out of commission.

Leavenworth Is Hit.
Leavenworth, Kan., is reported devastated. Many government buildings are said to have been destroyed and business houses in the city wrecked. The damage to farming property in the surrounding country is great. All wire communication with Leavenworth is cut off. It is known the storm swept a wide area, and immense destruction of property undoubtedly has occurred.

Eight Dead at Big Heart.
The tornado levied its greatest toll of dead at Big Heart, Okla., where eight persons were killed, ten injured, and almost every building in the town wrecked. Whiting, Kan., was practically wiped off the map, 50 buildings being blown down, 30 people hurt and Mrs. David Stone killed.

At Powhattan, Kan., a woman and child were killed. A high school building was wrecked at Eskridge, Kan., a number of houses damaged and from fifteen to twenty persons injured.

Many Others Killed and Hurt.
At Hlawathia, Kan., a school was blown down, an eight-year-old boy named Pelton was killed and several buildings were struck by lightning. Several persons are known to have been hurt at Netawaka, Kan. A boy was killed at Manville, Kan.

The Kansas end of the tornado started near Whiting and swept in a southeasterly direction for a distance of more than fifty miles.

It is thought that many more people were killed and injured than have been reported at this time. Telephone and telegraph crews are working to get the wires in shape. It is a big task, as only one wire was left intact between Kansas City and Topeka, and telegraph communication between Kansas City and Oklahoma points was cut off.

People Whirled Through Air.
The tornado at Big Heart, Okla., was accompanied by a driving rain and swept everything from its path. Houses were blown from their foundations and the occupants were whirled through the air.

This town was demoralized and telegraph communication cut off. As soon as communication could be established with nearby towns relief trains were started from Avant and Pawhuska.

Big Heart had a population of 400. It is in the Oango nation on the Midland Valley railroad.

Wreckage and Death in Kansas.

In the town of Whiting, 25 miles north of Topeka, sixty houses were blown down and thirty persons injured. Meager reports received here by long distance telephone state that the towns of Powhattan, Netawaka and Eskridge were struck by the same storm.

Eskridge is 25 miles south of Topeka. The high school building was blown down and 20 students were injured.

A woman and child were killed at Powhattan.

Mrs. David Stone, wife of a farmer living near Whiting, was swept from the steps of her home into a neighbor's yard half a mile away. She was picked up dead.

An interrupted telephone message from Netawaka says several persons were injured there.

Houses Blown Away.

George M. Scott, an Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe engineer, who was in Eskridge at the time of the storm, says at least 15 houses were blown down.

After he left Eskridge, says Scott, he could see the tornado sweeping across the country for a distance of ten miles, overturning houses, barns and sheds in its path.

The St. Joseph & Grand Island depot, a string of box cars and many buildings were wrecked or blown away at Manville, Kan. A farmhouse on the edge of the town was demolished and one child killed.

Storm Hits Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., April 13.—A cyclone passed near Oconto, Custer County, Nebraska, last night. Much damage is reported from country districts. Rural telephone wires are all down.

500 Miles Carpet on One Train.

New York, April 13.—Five hundred miles of carpet are to be shipped from this city to San Francisco on a special freight train of sixty cars. The shipment weighs 1,500,000 pounds and is worth $1,000,000. Its manufacture required the labor of 8,000 workers for eight days.

Col. F. E. Hobbs Dead.

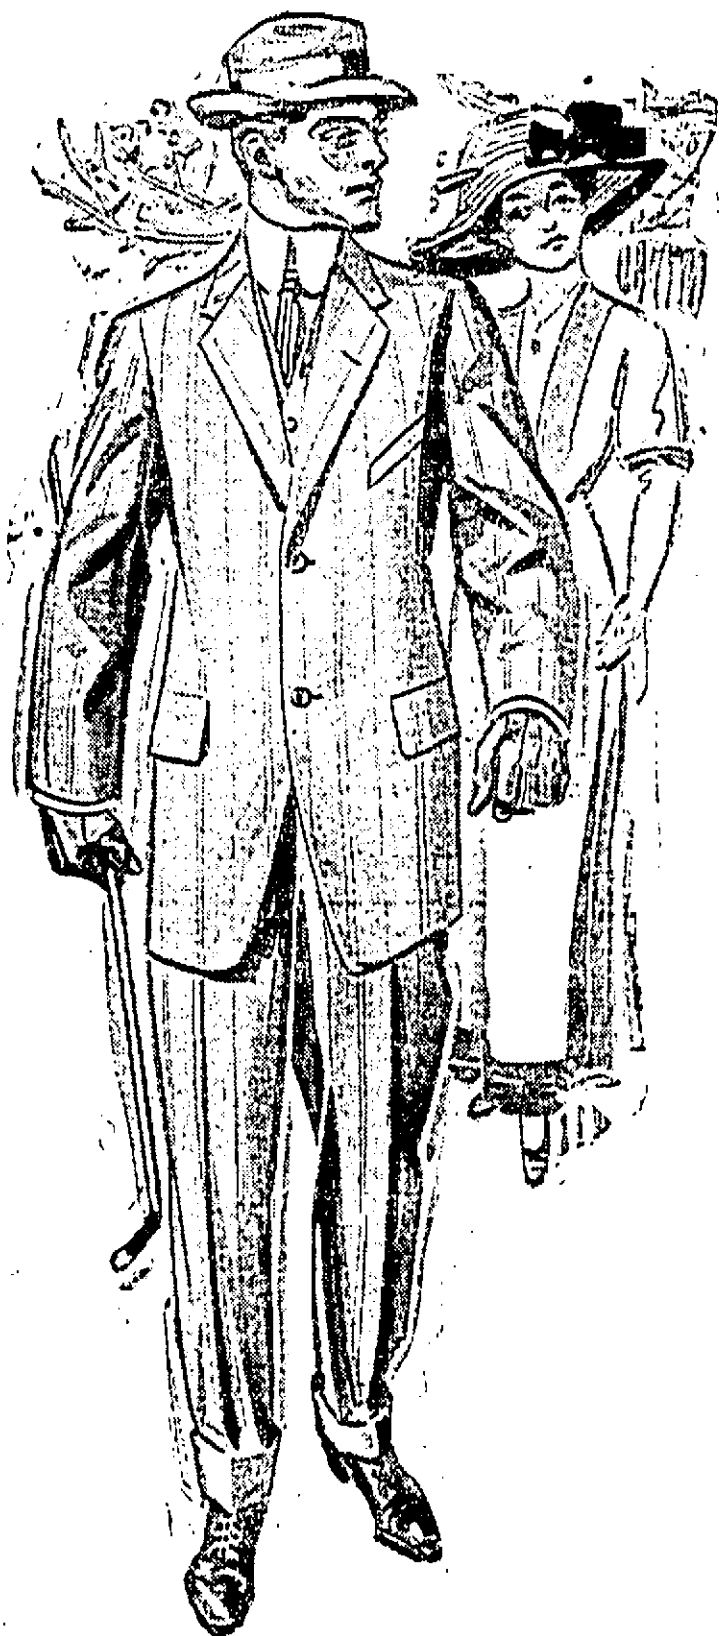

Rock Island, Ill., April 13.—News was received here of the sudden death of Lieut. Col. F. E. Hobbs, commandant of the Rock Island arsenal who passed away at Hot Springs, Ark. Col. Hobbs was fifty-eight years of age.

POINTS OF VIEW.
"Does your wife object to late dinner?"
"It all depends on whether the cause is a baseball game or a matinee."

MAYBE SO.
"I guess if people could swap their troubles they wouldn't be satisfied."
"No, I reckon there'd be just as much kidding as there is when they swap horses."

JUST THAT.
"What are you thinking about?"
"I was wondering how a man who is separated from his wife is going to find out where his spring clothes are."

LORIMER LID OFF AGAIN.

Chicago, Ill.—The Lorimer lid, which was supposed to have been forever locked down, is beginning to rattle on its hinges under the disclosures of Edward Kohlhatt, of the Chicago Record-Herald, who has alleged that Lumberman Hines solicited the International Harvester company to contribute a part of the fund they had already spent. This statement is absolutely denied by Mr. Hines, who brands the charge as entirely false.

According to the statement of Charles S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester company, Hines solicited him personally for his share of $100,000 put up in Springfield for the election of Senator Lorimer. Attorney John J. Healy of the Helin committee forced Editor Kohlhatt to be summoned to Springfield, there to explain his statement that $100,000 in "shush" fund had been raised.

Soaking the Doctors.

Twenty-five per cent. of Chicago people systematically and thoroughly deplete the doctors every year, for only one per cent. receive any other kind of charity. Doctors in Chicago are beaten right out of nearly $9,000,000 per annum, or $2,000 a doctor.

Low Wages in Asia Minor.

Wages throughout the cities of Asia Minor are low. Carpenters get from 32 to 56 cents a day; bricklayers, 40 to 48 cents, and common laborers from 4 to 12 cents. Doctors charge 10 cents a visit and dentists 20 cents for pulling a tooth.

Few Have Perfect Eyes.

Only one out of every fifteen persons has both eyes in good condition.

A Reliable Medicine—NOT A NARCOTIC.

Mrs. E. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gagging spells, and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house." The genuine is in a yellow package. Refuse substitutes. Badger Drug Co.

Particularly the Ladies.

Not only pleasant and refreshing to the taste, but gently cleansing and sweetening to the system, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is particularly adapted to ladies and children, and beneficial in all cases in which a wholesome, strengthening and effective laxative should be used. It is perfectly safe at all times and dispels colds, headaches and the pains caused by indigestion and constipation so promptly and effectively that it is the one perfect family laxative which gives satisfaction to all and is recommended by millions of families who have used it and who have personal knowledge of its excellence.

Its wonderful popularity, however, has led unscrupulous dealers to offer imitations which act unsatisfactorily. Therefore, when buying, to get its beneficial effects, always note the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package of the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

For sale by all leading druggists. Price 50 cents per bottle.

Value of College Life.

Dr. Henry Van Dike, in a recent address said: "There are many kinds of clubs. An authors' club may be defined as a fellowship based upon a common intimacy. A woman's club is an incorporate sigh for fraternity among sisters. A city club represents a rural ideal of metropolitan existence. A college graduates' club stands for a joyful memory of an imperfect youth and an ardent effort to mitigate the pains of growing old by doing it together. Comradeship is the most valuable by-product of our American colleges. They teach men to live together happily and to make friends. And when their sons go out into the world, they carry with them no stronger, deeper affection than that which binds them to their alma mater, who taught them not to know books, but also to know each other."

Banks and Lost or Destroyed Bills.

Bank bills are merely printed promises of the bank or government issuing them, to pay the face value of the bill or note, on demand, in coin of the realm. If a bank bill, or bank note as it might well be called, should be destroyed, the holder of the destroyed bill is the loser, and the bank the gainer by reason of the fact that it would be relieved of the obligation to make good its promise to pay the face value of a note which no longer exists.

Surely Veteran Musician.

William Kuhe, who introduced Patti, Treball and Christine Nilsson to the concert platform in England, is eighty-seven years old, an age which, he thinks, entitles him to be known as the oldest musician in the world. He was born in Prague in 1823, the son of German parents. He is a pianist and has given concerts in association with some of the world's most famous artists.

Should Have Reason for Faith.

It is always right that a man should be able to render a reason for the faith that is within him.—Sydney Smith.

Lacking Army Qualifications.

"No one knows until he makes the try," said a man who was looking for "something to do." "How hard it is to get into the army. I am down and out, and I thought that would be a good three-year job. On the same day that I tried 22 others did, and not one got in. Bad eyes, bad teeth and all sorts of things are looked against you. One fellow who went with me got 'like' put after his name when they shut him out. We didn't know till the sergeant told us that it meant 'insufficient knowledge of English.'"

Very Good Business.

The wife of a wealthy business man of Chicago was the daughter of a policeman. As they grew rich, both she and her husband concealed the fact as much as possible, for the sake of their social prestige. At a luncheon several society women of high position had been talking about their families. "What was your father's business, Mrs. D.?" was finally asked of the business man's wife. Mrs. D. was not disturbed. "My father was in the copper business," she said with cool emphasis.

A Healthful City is Janesville

Have you stopped to consider the fact that Janesville has no epidemics of disease?

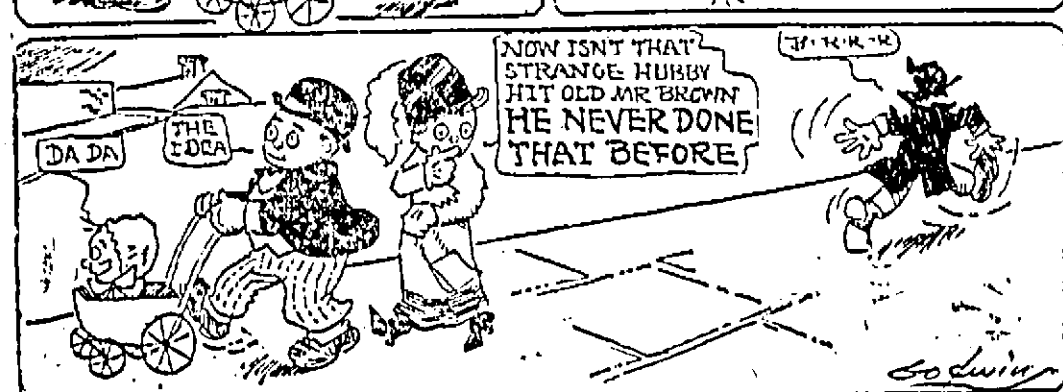

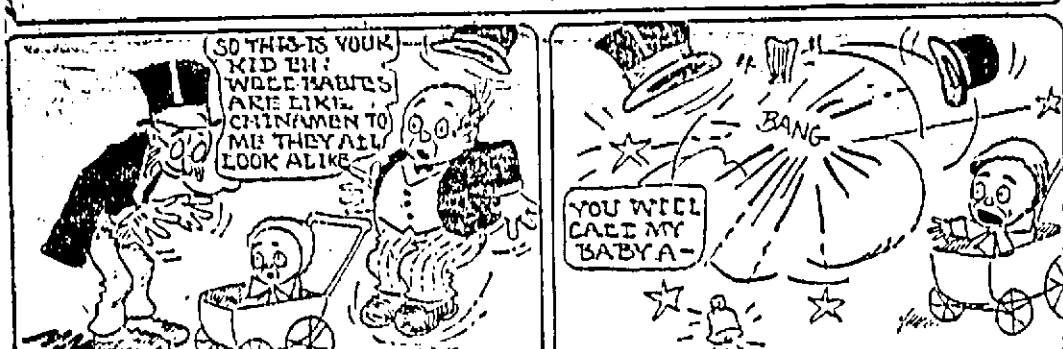

Have you given real serious thought to the reasons for this agreeable state of affairs? Really the health conditions at all times of the community are so favorable that you and I take it as a matter of course, and give little thought to the reasons why.

The natural sanitation of the city is remarkable, drainage from every point to the river and in addition a system of sewerage modern and perfect gives double protection.

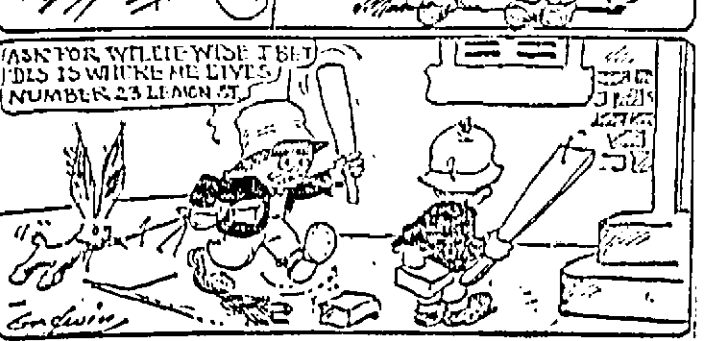

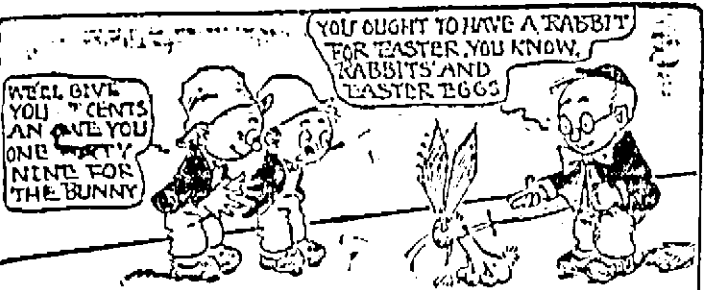

Our artesian drinking water is perfect. Its analysis compares with that of the famous Waukesha Springs containing elements which make it a perfect beverage.

There are but few cities having the natural advantages of Janesville. We should appreciate them and spread the knowledge to the outsider who is seeking a perfect home community. Clip this out and mail it to some friend today.

Rembrandt Museum.

Within a short time Amsterdam will possess a new attraction to lovers of art. The house where Rembrandt lived from 1639 to 1669, and where he passed the happiest years of his married life with Saskia van Uylenburgh, is being restored and arranged as a small Rembrandt museum. The historical building, long much neglected, became the property some time ago of a society and is now being restored under the direction of a famous architect.

Sample of Chinese Humor.

A barber, while shaving a customer's head, drew blood, and put one of his fingers on the place. Again he made a cut, and put down another finger, and so on until he had no more fingers free. "Ah," said he, as he paused in his work, "a barber's trade is difficult; we ought to have a thousand fingers!"

THE THEATERS

Any play of importance which is produced treating that vital subject of the intermingling of the races is bound to bring forth storms of comment favorable and otherwise from the press and public. In this respect the play of "The House Next Door" is no exception to the rule, for it has been written about it, and the press have discussed it pro and con. The Gaiety Theatre in New

BOONE SPECTACLE COMING.
Daniel Boone on the Trail is coming man from Chicago. The plot of the play is woven around the attempt of the homely Zerk to keep the land for Grubb and to thwart the unscrupulous city man. The part of Zerk was done in a way that was above criticism by Fred Raymond, Jr., as was the part of Daisy the untamed farmer girl by Wanda Wallace. These two worked together in a manner that carried the piece along and their ac-

SCENE IN "THE HOUSE NEXT DOOR" AT THE MYERS THEATRE, MONDAY, APRIL 17.

York and Power's Theatre in Chicago were packed nightly during its long run in those cities to witness this much discussed play. The question is one that is as old as time, but still always new and second in importance to none of the great problems of the day. In treating the subject in a light comedy way, the author has only pronounced the length of the play, for while one laughs and is amused there is always a serious undertone of the importance of the project. In mind which is the subsequent ending of the play has brought the auditor an evening's entertainment both of ing with his tribe of full blooded Sioux Indians; his pack of Siberian wolves; his den of bears and his St. Bernard dog just to show the natives of Janesville how Daniel did things up in the earlier pioneer days.

Daniel Boone can truthfully be called one of the real successes of the season. The public are now growing tired of seeing the moving pictures of some Indian story in which an actor is painted and rehearsed to represent the savage Indian. They long for more realism and Daniel Boone, where the savage is played by a real Indian.

In Boone you will see these painted devils as the earlier settlers called them, burn the Boone cabin; you will hear their weird chant as did Boone hear it that dreadful night when he found himself homeless a prisoner in the hands of the savages. This is one of the plays dealing with romance of Colonial days. The coming of night; the burning of the last stick; and the attack of the howling wolves is worked behind a large screen in full view of the audience, as well as the great dog scene in which Boone's daughter is thrown among the bears and Boone's thrilling rescue.

Bounding Elk, the great Sioux warrior is with the company and chief of the tribe carried. This famous old warrior fought against Custer in the battle of "The Little Big Horn" and was near Custer when he fell. Today the old war horse is in his 20th year, yet his eyes have not ceased to sparkle when the stories of the Indian wars are told. Daniel Boone will be presented at the Myers theatre Saturday, April 15, matinee and evening.

GRADUATING CLASS TO PRESENT PLAY

Seniors Meet and Consider Plans for Presentation of Class Play This Year.

At the close of school yesterday, the members of this year's graduating class, who are eligible to take part in the class play, met Mrs. Day, who has been secured to train them. About thirty members of the class are eligible and will contest for positions in the cast. Two-thirds of this number are girls and as a result the number of boys is small. So far no play has been decided upon and no great interest is manifested by the members wishing to take part.

GOOD RURAL COMEDY AT MYERS THEATRE

"The Missouri Girl" Scored A Decisive Hit At Local Playhouse Last Evening.

Full of clever situations and dialogue "The Missouri Girl", which appeared at the Myers theatre last evening under the management of F. W. Richmond, was before a fairly good house, proved to be everything that was claimed for it. From curtain to curtain the play abounded in clean comedy and funny situations characteristic of the rural comedy and the trials and tribulations of Daisy and Zerk kept the spectators in a constant state of amused interest.

For a wholesome rural play of the old type this piece ranks among the first. Zerk the farm hand discovers a rich vein of zinc ore on the farm of old Silas Grubb and failing to let the owner know of his find for some time, wakes up to discover that the old man has sold it to a cunning gent in the city was one of the cleverest bits of comedy that local theatre goers will have the opportunity of seeing for some time. The part of Mrs. Grubb, "who doesn't talk much" was taken in a very pleasing way by Lulu Guerold. The work of Horace Ward as Ruddy Bagdale and that of J. Norington as the country justice of the peace added much to the comedy and were most cleverly done. Others of the cast who were worthy of especial mention were, Linda Chaudet as Col. Sweetman and Otto Hammer as Silas Grubb.

PLANS FOR MEN'S ROOM AT LIBRARY

Board Has Establishment of Such A Room in Mind For Fall—Other Features This Spring.

With the end in view of making the public library serve the greatest possible number a new plan is under consideration by the board to create a reading room for men in the library building, starting next fall. Although nothing has been done definitely some of the plans have been formulated.

It is the idea of those who are behind the movement to make the room underneath the general reading room into a place where it will be possible for the men to come outside of the hours in which they are working and have a place that is strictly for them. Here they may smoke and have at their command all of the current magazines and newspapers as well as other literature of general interest. It was not thought that such a room would meet with much patronage at this time of the year. The summer months are coming on and between the departure of many for their summer homes and early home coming it was not considered that any such arrangement should be started in the fall of the year.

With the working out of this plan the public library of this city will come as near to meeting the demands of such an institution as any in the state. In addition to this will be the new plans for the opening of the children's room, which after May 1st, will be open on Saturday from ten o'clock in the morning until 6:30 in the evening. This will give an opportunity for those who work up until six to get out what books they want between that time and 6:30.

Another feature that will be started this spring is the bird class under the direction of Miss Agnes Buckmaster. Practical work in the field and a general study of our birds will be the object of this feature for the children.

THE SOUND SLEEP OF GOOD HEALTH

Can not be overestimated and any ailment that prevents it is a menace to health. J. L. Southern, Dan Chalmers, Wis., says: "I have been unable to sleep soundly nights, because of pains across my back and soreness of my kidneys. My appetite was very poor and my general condition was much run down. I have been taking Foley Kidney Pills but a short time and now sleep as sound as a rock, my general condition is greatly improved, and I know that Foley Kidney Pills have cured me." WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

Did you ever have the experience of finding yourself suddenly thinking of some person or some place which you hadn't thought of for months, and which there was apparently nothing in the landscape, the conversation or your own train of thought to suggest to you?

"I'll answer for you. Yes. If you are my old friend, 'The average person,' of course, you have."

And now another question. Do you ever attempt to seek out what has been the train of thought or the aeroplane of suggestion that has conveyed this place or person to your mind?

Again, I'll answer for you. You have not. But you really ought to try, for truly it is a most interesting experiment. Someone suggested it to me and the other evening I tried it.

I was walking down the street alone, after a visit to the dressmaker's. I was thinking of a new spring gown and of nothing else when suddenly, quite to my own surprise, I realized that the thought of a man I hadn't seen for a year or thought of for the same length of time had popped into my head. At first it seemed to me that the coming of this thought at just that moment was absolutely unaccountable, and then I searched about in my mind and found that I had just passed the house where his first wife's people had once lived. My eye had undoubtedly lit upon the house and far below the surface of my conscious mind the train of thought started that brought that man's image to me. The process of suggestion had been to swift that I had been entirely unaware of it, but it was there just the same, and I suppose it always is even when we utterly fail to identify it.

In a somewhat similar fashion, often during a conversation, after a moment's silence, you or your companion will suddenly speak out on a subject quite alien to what you had been talking about.

Now you will find it a most interesting experiment to trace, or ask him to trace, the train of thought that carried you or him so far away from the previous topic.

And not only are such experiments interesting, but they are also excellent mental training.

After you have traced a train of thought a few times you will be surprised how much easier the process comes and how much knowledge you are acquiring of one of the most fascinating of studies, the psychology of your own mind.

PUSH, PULL AND PLUCK.

One of the most familiar signs today is the little ones on store doors which notify patrons to "Pull" and "Push." You can't get into any of these stores unless you "push." You can't get out unless you "pull."

Both are typical of life. To get on one must push and with the effort plenty of pluck must be displayed. The world somehow loves the person who pushes along towards better things with pluck sufficient to show that there will be no letting down of effort.

The ability to push one's self forward and to pull the good things already accomplished along with them makes up for many other deficiencies. It takes a lot of pluck to overcome difficulties and it takes a lot more to stay on top when one has once succeeded in getting there. It takes a lot of pluck to cut and how one's way to any desired thing. It takes courage and persistence to accomplish anything in this world. But if one keeps right on pushing toward the front he or she will sometime get there.

One has a right to use all legitimate means to bring about the results he or she desires to accomplish in certain things, and anyone who does not use them is not faithful to himself. One must learn the gentle art of pushing persistently toward the thing desired. It is this quality that makes a man that has made the great names of history. Every man who has ever accomplished anything has had to have it in some degree. Every man who reaches his goal at any time must have it. He must be willing to work systematically forward, pushing where he can and pulling himself along when he must.

And there are many times when one must pull himself or herself along. It is when disappointments come or one gets that feeling of being completely worn out but when one knows full well he or she must keep right on at the task begun.

Ever watch men building a big tunnel? Perhaps not one of the skilled men working on it realizes the full importance of the work they are doing but what they do is of the utmost importance because it is an integral part of the whole. Somewhere on the work is the man who comprehends the whole scheme being worked out by subordinates. When you find him you have found the key to the whole work. He is aggressive, because he has the will and he is of the type who will pull a thing to success if he can't push it. You realize this when you meet him. This kind of a man may not make bluster and noise. He may not attract half the attention one of his subordinates does, but he is there because he "knows how," and he "knows how" because he has pushed everything out of the pathway to the necessary knowledge. And this man is only typical of every other person of energy and ambition.

To Women Readers

An inquiry comes from one of the contributors in the Gazette Men's column asking whether the writers name should be signed to recipes sent in for publication, and if they will be printed. In answer to this let me say the names of the writers should be signed to the recipes but they will not be published unless desired by the writer. Perhaps this has been the reason that so few recipes have been asked for.

Remember that if you desire a certain recipe to use in the contest that has not been published send it in to the Feature Editor with a request that it be printed and it will be done. Also if you desire a recipe with and ask the Feature Editor to have it published. Your name will not appear in the paper unless you desire it.

There are still some scraps left in the office which can be used by calling for them or mailing the coupon and two cents. One housewife says that aside from posting the Gazette recipes she finds it useful to preserve others she has secured from

"Knowledge in an unseasoned degree is what the world calls wisdom."

Some More About Rice.

Rice is a cheap food and should be served often in the home. There are any number of ways of serving it so that one need never tire of monotony. Served plain, seasoned with butter and salt, it takes the place of a vegetable at dinner, and if well cooked is most acceptable this way.

A dainty dessert of rice and cream is made as follows:

Rice and Almond Cream.
Blanch one-half cupful of almonds, cut in strips or chop fine. Put them into a double boiler with three cups of milk, one-fourth cup of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt and when hot add one cup of well-washed rice. Cook until the rice is tender. When ready to serve fill sherbet glasses half full of the rice, add a teaspoonful of apple jelly, then fill with thick whipped cream and another bit of jelly on the top.

Rice gems are very nice and economical for one can use the cold cooked rice left over. Beat one egg, add one cupful of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of baking powder, and one cupful milk, and one cupful of cooked rice. Bake as gems.

Chicken and Rice, Spanish Style.

Cut up a chicken as for fricassee, in a deep frying pan put half a cup of olive oil and heat, gradually adding two bruised cloves of garlic. When the garlic begins to color lay in the chicken and turn several times until a golden brown all over; add two sweet red peppers cut in strips, two white onions sliced. When the onions are yellow add four large tomatoes, peeled and quartered, and one-half cup of well-washed rice, and sufficient stock or water to cover. Simmer until the rice is tender, adding salt and more stock as needed. Serve very hot.

Scrambled Eggs With Rice.

Take one cupful of cold cooked rice, put in a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of water, cook very slowly, stirring constantly. Season with salt, pepper and a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce. Serve on toast.

Apple Dumplings Baked.

Three-fourths pound of flour, one-quarter pound beef marrow, one-half teaspoon of baking powder, tinned apples, cloves. For the crust rub the beef marrow into the flour until as fine as grated bread crumbs, add the baking powder with dry. Mix to a stiff paste with a little cold water. Divide the paste into three pieces. Open a tin of apples, place two halves and one clove on each piece of paste previously rolled out, and work the paste round the apple with your hands so that no join can be discovered. Bake on a greased tin for three-quarters of an hour. A dish for three persons.

Date Whip.

Stone a quarter pound of dates, chop fine and cook to a paste in five tablespoonfuls of hot water. Press through a sieve. Beat the whites of five eggs until foamy, add a quarter teaspoon cream of tartar and beat all until dry, then beat in the date pulp and half a cup of sugar very gradually. Bake in a buttered baking dish about 25 minutes, slow fire. Serve with whipped cream or with hotted mustard made of a pint of milk, the yolks of three eggs and a third cup of sugar.

To Clean Stained Knives.

Knives that have been stained by fruit or vinegar may be cleaned, after washing, by rubbing them with a freshly cut raw potato and then polishing them on a knife board in the ordinary way. Lemon juice and whitening, mixed into a soft paste and well rubbed in, will remove stains from ivory or bone handles. Rinse in warm water after the paste has been thoroughly applied and dry carefully.

Farmers' Gems.

Two cups of sugar, two cups of sour cream, two tablespoonfuls of soda, flour as for cookies. If you expect them to last long you will have to double the quantity.

Banana Salad.

Banana salad is not cooked, but is appetizing for those who like such a rich mixture. Serve plain on lettuce hearts covered thickly with mayonnaise or mix with equal parts of orange sections sprinkled with chopped nuts.

Per Simmons.

"How do Jack and Joanne ever manage to scrape a living?"
"Why, he makes the money first and she makes it last."—Harvard Lampoon.

Live and Dye Together.

"What chance those two women seem to be," said he. "You see them together everywhere." "They are," said she. "They are so fond of each other they dilute their hair dye to exactly the same tint."

Their Appropriate Place.
"What is this institution?" "One where all the next-to-nature's heart faddists ought to go." "Why so?" "Because it is a home for the feeble-minded, where all the inmates lead the real simple life."

Some Dress Accessories

LITTLE finishing touches make the finished toilet and mark the care that is beautiful. That bows of narrow velvet ribbon, or of folded satin, flush the center of larger bows of lace at the throat. Flower forms in shower effects, like that shown in the picture, made of baby velvet ribbon and satin ribbon, and neck bands of black velvet studded with tiny roses and forget-me-nots of narrow ribbon have proved fascinating additions to the chiffon blouses, now the vogue.

Very small flowers made of silk or ribbon or metal tissues, or of all of them combined were never so fully appreciated as they are right now. They adorn neckwear and bodices and millinery. Occasionally they appear on skirts. Nothing outvies them but the new beaded decorations. Small beads such as the Indians use are a feature of the season. Fabrics are cleverly woven to look as if beaded and one must examine at close range to be able to tell. The effects are very unusual.

It is not likely that the corsage bouquet will be any less a favorite for spring than it is now. The most life-like artificial flowers, scented like those they represent in nature, brighten up the plainest tailor-made, or add a final charm to the fanciest spring gowns.

The midsummer fashions are destined to be most midsummery. Slowly we approach that which is at once beautiful and comfortable. And now that Paris is turning out boldly a corsetless gown, and a bifurcated skirt which are taken seriously enough to be insistently reported, it looks as if a new order of things were coming.

We shall be forced to give much attention to the figure—the body which is more than raiment.

The Necromancer

But yesterday the world was gray,
The valleys and the hills were bare,
Nor even sunlight came to play
With mocking shadows anywhere.
Then, answering a magic wand
A bird-song rippled from the height,
And from the meadowlands beyond
A corol murmured in delight.

For in the night a veil was hung
Across the stark bosom of the trees,
All tremulous it caught and swung
As a summer willow and sea—
A veil of sheen, living green—
Through which the sunbeams softly fell
And splashed it with a jewel sheen.
Of wonder that no words may tell.

And over meadowlands, and all Across the hills, the veil was thrown
In answer to the mystic call
Which from the fairy horns was blown.
The call whose accents faint will reach
The heights of sky and depths of earth
And with their swift and subtle speech
Call bud and bough to never birth.

Shrubs pulsed with life, and barks Turned red
And leaved and green; and curling
From
Of ferns leaped from the maresies
Dead,
Wild vines drooped over drowsing
Ponds
And tender mint gave forth its scent
While pungent, spicy catanuns
Its first green banners unpent
Amid the rippling tremulous.

Ho, ribald folk who jest and jeer
At chyming wights who touch the Ire,
Ye know that at this time of year
Your own hearts throb with hidden fire,
And how, contented, you look out
Upon the early blooms that dance
In winding measures roundabout
Through spring's unmasking necromance!

WILBUR D. NISBET.

Hair-Raising Performance.
"The baby likes to play with my hair." "But aren't you afraid he'll muss it, dragging it all over the floor?"

Inconsiderate.
"That conductor isn't very considerate of people's feelings." "No, he'd tell a man with a wooden leg to 'step lively.'"

THE FIRST KEEPER OF FINANCE.

April 13—Lord North, who probably did more to bring about the American Revolution than any man in England, was born April 13, 1732, died April 5, 1792. He was prime minister to George III during the days of Number 111, Paul Revere's ride, and those other functions which were made so entertaining for the British visitor in our midst. As a matter of fact Lord North began to get cold feet on the taxing of the colonies and tried to bring about a change whereby the colonies could decide for themselves what taxes they should pay, but George III would not listen to anything and the game went to a finish. John L. Sullivan said he "went into the ring once too often," but John wasn't the originator of that scheme. North resigned from office just in time to save his boss from slipping a bias ticket into his pay envelope in 1782. He spent the last five years of his life totally blind.

READING WHILE EATING.

Reading while eating may or may not prove harmful to digestion, depending upon the nature of what is read. If it be of an exciting character the reader will unconsciously eat rapidly and bolt his food without sufficient mastication, in response to the stimulation of his nervous system. If there is no such stimulus imparted reading while eating cannot do much harm. But it cannot be too often repeated that thorough mastication is the primary requirement for good digestion.

The BRONZE BELL

"He thrust a hand within his shirt and brought forth the emerald. 'Here it is,' he told the woman, cheerfully. 'Now this test!'"

"Place it upon thy finger—so, even upon thy little finger, as was thy father's wont with it. Now lift up thine arm, so, and turn the stone to the west, toward Kathapur."

Without comprehension he yielded to this whim, holding up his right arm and turning the emerald to the quarter indicated by Naraini.

The hour had drawn close upon dawn. A cold air breathed down the valley and was chill to them in that lofty eyrie. The moon, dipping towards the rim of the world, was poised, a globe of dull silver, upon the ridge of a far, dark hill. As they watched it dropped out of sight and everything was suddenly very bleak and black.

And a curious thing happened. Naraini cried out sharply—"Aho!"—as if unable to contain her excitement. Somewhere in the palace behind them a great gong boomed like thunder.

A pause ensued, disturbed only by the fluttering of the woman's breath; for the space of thirty pulses beats nothing happened. Then Naraini's fingers closed like bands of steel about Amber's left wrist.

"Gentle!" she cried in a voice of awe, while the bracelets shivered and clashed upon her outstretched arm. "The eye, my king, the eye!"

Amber shut his teeth upon an exclamation of amazement. For just above the far, dark mountain ridge, uncannily brilliant in the void of the pale, moonlit firmament, a light had blazed out; a vivid emerald light, twinkling and stabbing the darkness with shafts of seemingly supernatural radiance.

"And thy ring, lord—look! The Token!"

The great emerald seemed to have caught and was answering the light Naraini called the eye; in the stone's depths an infernal fire leaped and died and leaped again, now luridly blazing, now fitfully aglow as though about to vanish, again strong and steady; even as the light of the strange emerald star above the mountains ebbed and flowed through the night.

Naraini shuddered and cried out guardedly for very fear. "By Indur, it is even as the Voice foretold! Nay, 'heaven-born'—she caught his sleeve and forcibly pulled down his hand—'tempt not the unseen further. And put away this Token, lest a more terrible thing befall us. There be mysteries that even we of the Initiate may not comprehend, my lord. It is not well to meddle with the unknown.'"

The ring was off his finger now and the woman was cramming it into his coat pocket with tremulous hands. "And where the eye had shown, the sky was blank. They stood in darkness, Amber mute in perplexity, Naraini clinging to his arm and shaking like a reed in the wind.

"Now am I frightened, lord of my heart! Lead me back to the garden, for I am but a woman and afraid. Who am I, Naraini, to see the eye? What am I, a weak woman, to trespass upon the mysteries? I am very much afraid. Do thou take me hence and comfort me, my king!" She drew this way, about her waist, and round and slender, and held it so, her body yielding subtly to his, her head drooping wearily upon his shoulder.

They moved slowly from the turret and back along the lighted walks of the garden, the woman apparently content, Amber preoccupied—to tell the truth, more troubled than he would have been willing to confess.

"See now how thou art altogether contrived, Lalji!" she cried joyfully. "No longer canst thou persist that thou art other than thy true self, the lord of Naraini's heart, the king returned to his kingdom. . . . For who would dare to give the lie to the Eye? Indeed," she continued with a low, sighing laugh, "I myself had begun to doubt, my faith borne down and overcome by thy repeated denials; but now I know thee. Did not the Hell foretell that the Eye should be seen of men only when Har Dyal Hutton had returned to his kingdom, and then only when he wore the Token? Even as it was said, so has it been." And now art thou prepared to go?"

"Whither?"

"To Kathapur—even to the threshold of the Gateway? . . . There is yet time, before the dawn, and it were wise to go quickly, my king; but for one night more is the Gateway open to receive thee. Thou didst see the saddled stallions in the courtyard? They wait there for thee, to bear thee to Kathapur. . . . Nay, it were better that thou shouldst wait, mayhap, for the hours be few before the rising of the sun. Go then to thy rest, heart of my heart, since thou must leave me; and this night we shall ride, thou and I, together to the Gateway."

"So be it," he assented, with a grave inclination of the head. Convinced of the thanklessness of any further attempt to convince the woman against her will, he gave it up, and was grateful for the respite promised him. In twelve or eighteen hours he might accomplish much—with the aid of Labertouch. At worst he would find some means to communicate with the Parrels and then seek safety for himself in flight or hiding until what he had come to term "that damned gateway-thing" should be closed and he be free to resume . . . strange wooing. Some way, somehow, he could contrive to extricate himself and his beloved.

Therefore he told the woman: "Do it so, O queen. Now I go."

"And leave me," she pouted prettily, "with no word but that, my king? Am I not worth a crest—not even when I beg for it?"

He smiled down at her, tolerant and amused, and impulsively caught her to him. "The point's well taken," he said. "Decidedly, you're worth it, Naraini. And if you were not, the show was!"

And he kissed and left her, all in a breath.

CHAPTER XVI.

Sunrise for Two.

Amber found his way out of the garden without difficulty; at the door, way an eunuch waited. The maharajah himself, perhaps in deference to the dictates of discretion, did not reappear, and Amber had no desire to see him again. He was eager only to get away, to find a place and time to think, and to get into communication with Labertouch.

In the cavern-like chamber at the water level Dulla Dad had the boat in readiness. Amber embarked, not without a sigh of relief, and the Mohammedan with his double-spaded paddle drove the boat out of the secret entrance, in an impassive silence. In the stern Amber watched the indolent grey light of dawn wavering over the face of the waters and wondered.

The boat swung in gently to the marble steps of the bank. Amber rose and stepped ashore, very tired and very much inclined to believe he would presently wake up to a sane and normal world.

"Huzoor!" the voice of Dulla Dad called him. He turned. "Huzoor," he was to say that at the third hour after sunset tonight this boat will be waiting. You are to call me by name, and I will put in for you, huzoor."

"What's that? I don't understand. Oh, very well."

"And I was to say further, my lord, these words: 'You shall find but one way to Kathapur.'"

Amber shook his head, smiling. "If you don't mind getting yourself disliked on my account, Dulla Dad, you may take back to the author of that epigram this answer: 'You shall find but one way to Jahannum, and that right speedily.' Good morning, Dulla Dad."

"The peace of God abide always with the heaven-born!"

Amber entered the bungalow, to find the khansamah already awake and moving about. At the Virginian's request he shuffled off to prepare coffee—much coffee, very strong and black and hot, Amber stipulated. He needed the stimulant badly. He was sleepy and his head was in a whirl.

He sat lost in thought until the khansamah brought the decoction, then roused and drank it as it came from the pot, without sugar, gulping down huge bitter mouthfuls of the scalding black fluid. But the effect that he expected and desired was strangely long in making itself felt. He marvelled at his drowsiness, nodding and blinking over his empty cup. Out of doors the skies were hot and blue-white with forerunners of the sun, and the world of men was stirring and making preparations against the business of the day; but Amber, who had a work as serious and so instant to his hand, sat on in dreamy lethargy, musing.

The faces of two women stood out vividly against the misty formless void before his eyes; the face of Naraini and that of Sophia Parrell. He looked from one to the other, stupidly contrasting them, trying to determine which was the lovelier, until their features blurred and ran together and the two became as one.

The khansamah tiptoed cautiously into the room and found the Virginian sleeping like a log, his head upon the table. His face was deeply colored with crimson, as if a fever burned him, and his breathing was loud and stertorous.

Pausing, the native beckoned to one who skulked without, and the latter entering, the two laid hold of the unconscious man and bore him to the charpoy. The second native slipped silver money into the khansamah's palm.

"He will sleep till evening," he said. "If any come asking for him, say that he has gone abroad, leaving no word. More than this you do not know. The saptas have an order to prevent all from entrance."

Dependent the spreading banian, by the easterly of the goldfish, Naraini with smoldering eyes watched Amber disappear in the wilderness of scrubbery. He walked as a man with a set purpose, never glancing back. She laughed uneasily but waited motionless where he had left her, until the echo of his boot-heels on the marble slabs had ceased to ring in the neighboring corridor. Then, lifting a flower-like hand to her mouth, she touched her lips gently and with an air of curiosity. The resentment in her eyes gave place to an emotion less superficial. "By Indur and by Hari!" she swore softly. "In one thing at least he is like a rajput; he kisses as a man kisses."

The east was gray with dusk of dawn—a light that grew opaque, making garish the illumination of the flickering, smoking, many-colored lamps in the garden. Naraini clapped her hands. Soft footsteps sounded in the gallery and one of her handmaids threaded the shrubbery to her side.

"The lamps, Unda," said the queen; "their light, I think, little becomes me. Put them out." And when this was done, she composedly ordered her pipe and threw herself lazily at length upon a pile of knee-cushions, her posture the more careless since she knew herself secure from observation; the garden being private to her use.

The tread of boots with jingling spurs sounded in the gallery, warning her. She sighed, smiled dangerously to herself, and carelessly adjusted her veil, leaving rather more than half her face bare. Softly Singh entered the garden and found his way to her, towering over her beneath the canopy, brave in his green and tinsel uniform. She looked up with a hatless hauteur that expressed "attitude toward the maid."

ANOTHER SIMILAR CASE.

Cornwallville, N. Y.—"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time for Change of Life, nervousness, and a blood growth."

"Two doctors advised me to go to the hospital, but one day while I was away visiting, I met a woman who told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and I know it helped me wonderfully. I am very thankful that I was told to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Wm. Boughton, Cornwallville, N. Y., Greene Co.

Oil Now Made Solid.

Tank steamers taking oil the world around may in time be a thing of the past. Now, they have got up solid oil, and they declare it is almost pure petroleum. Slight pressure, such as squeezing a cake of it in the hand, causes the oil to ooze out. The cake of petroleum, perhaps packed into a wooden case lined with tinfoil, thus preventing waste or evaporation, may be shipped all around the world.

MISSIONARIES TO HOLD GIGANTIC EXPOSITION.

Two scenes typical of foreign lands in which the missionaries have been most active. At top, Turkish street scene; lower right, Chinese pagoda, both of which will be reproduced at the exposition. Lower left, Rev. A. M. Gardner, general secretary of "The World in Boston."

Boston, Mass.—America's first missionary exposition, under the auspices of the combined missionary societies of the United States, is to be held here April 22 to May 26. The exhibition is on a huge scale and the first and second floors of the Mechanics building are to be utilized for the purpose. Exhibitions from all missionary fields of the world will be seen, also a great number of people in which nearly 25,000 people will take part. Five thousand trained voices and one thousand children are included among these.

The exposition will cost $100,000, $50,000 of which has been subscribed by business men of this city. "The World in Boston" is planned along the same lines as were the successful exhibitions in England. Some slight modifications have been made to suit conditions in the United States. The work of organization has been thoroughly done. It has extended into and really permeates most of the churches of Boston and vicinity through the headquarters, the eight sects in each church, the stewards and the children.

The president of "The World in Boston" is Samuel D. Capen, L. D., for many years president of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions. Among the vice presidents are Thomas P. Barbour, D. D., foreign secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Missions society; "Father" Francis E. Clark of the Society of Christian Endeavor, and Miss Caroline Hazard, former president of Wellesley college. Bishop Lawrence of the Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts, Bishop Hamilton of the Methodist church, President Faunce of Brown university, and other non-sectarian prominent, are also vice presidents. Rev. Fred P. Haskard, D. D., home secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Missions society, is chairman of the board of trustees.

There are no Presbyterians among the vice presidents or on the board of trustees. This is probably due to the fact that the Presbyterian church is not strong in New England, and through a felt understanding with the Congregational church does not endeavor to strengthen the denomination in the New England states. There are, however, among the important lieutenants who have charge of various departments of the exposition Presbyterians prominent not only in Boston, but in New England.

There are nearly 50 departments in the world in Boston, each in charge of a capable man or woman. The department of stewards is the most important, and for each court or scene at the exposition there is a lieutenant of stewards, who has charge of the men and women, young or old, who will populate each scene and take part in the demonstrations.

Most of the stewards will wear the native dress of the country or scene to which they are attached. They are to arrive in relays of a few hours each week, so that while there may not be more than 400 stewards on duty at any one time during the exposition, the services of the entire ten thousand will be utilized. It will be the duty of the stewards to answer the questions of visitors, explain the native customs and forms of worship, to show the missionaries work and what missions have accomplished, and in general be qualified to demonstrate the influence of Christianity in the land of which they are temporarily a part. There will also be dialogues and other demonstrations in which they will participate, giving to the exposition a very strong human touch. The varied costumes of the stewards will give to the exposition a brilliant color and a diversity which will add to its interest in a wonderful way. The scenes are to be lifelike representations of buildings and streets which are represented.

In order to qualify for the position of a steward those who have enrolled are studying the history of the country to which they have been assigned, the work of missions and the achievement of mission work therein. During last fall about 100 persons took normal studies courses to qualify themselves as teachers for the stewards training classes.

After two months or more of study and four weeks of imparting the information which they have absorbed, it is not possible that these stewards will ever lack in the interest for the work of missions throughout the world. The fact that the exposition will make its appeal to the eye will attract many who otherwise would be indifferent. Thousands, both in the churches and out, who, through ignorance, are now indifferent to missions, will respond to the announcement of the exposition because it is something to see.

The demonstration proposed will be achieved in a great variety of ways, each of absorbing interest. The first sensation of visitors will, no doubt, be the recognition that before their eyes is a land of color and a spectacle such as rarely meets the gaze of an untraveled American. Before him is a Japanese street, with stores and shops upon either side, leading into a large garden dominated by a Buddhist temple. From this way may be made into almost any country of the world. On one side of the entrance various Mohammedan lands are represented—Palestine, Turkey, Persia, Arabia and others; on the other to emphasize the essential oneness of home and foreign missions is a large section representing Christian work among North American Indians. This latter leads into the negro section, and this again into an African village, with its houses, shops, mosque, church and Yoruba compound.

By way of the Japanese street, before mentioned, we come to Chinatown with its tall, central pagoda, its opium den, its joss house, and other parts. Near by are sections devoted to medical, educational and industrial missions, and to work among lepers in various lands. Further along, again, is an Indian village, or bazaar, including among other exhibits the "Towers of Silence," a Kashmiri house, a Bengali zemina, a Hindu temple, and a wayside shrine. Beyond this are various departments representing home missionary work among immigrants of Ellis Island and on the frontier, and in Hawaii, Cuba, and Porto Rico. On the same floor, a hall of religions will bring the world's multitudinous forms of worship, pagan rites and heathen superstitions before the eyes of visitors in an indelible fashion, and a large number of courts, or booths, will be filled with interesting objects from all the non-Christian countries of the world. Here will be shown with pictures, and trophies, and all other objects illustrating the emergency by barbarous nations from the habits and customs of darkness into the splendors of a civilization clothed by love.

The gallery or second floor of the main exposition hall will be devoted to a comprehensive illustration of educational work in non-Christian lands. Of native and missionary schools will be shown with objects of typical buildings, and there will be demonstrations in which children will participate. In a smaller hall the home life of children in heathen lands will be illustrated in another way; in dialogue, sketches, and various brief scenes. Tablets and costume lectures will be presented in another hall. At one hour the visitors will see a Brahman wedding, and at another an African witch doctor. An almost continuous moving picture exhibition will be given in a third small hall. Thousands of feet of moving picture films are being collected for this apartment department from all parts of the world. There will be shown at frequent intervals the native life in the great cities of non-Christian lands, with pictures of missionaries actually at work and other interesting scenes.

The Presbyterian board of home missions had charge of all the preparations for the American Indian scene. This will include real teepees, lodges, with scenes showing Indian life, including a cliff dweller's home. There will be also an Indian Christian church. One of the Presbyterian pastors of Boston has charge of the leper court, in which there will be demonstrated Christian work among the lepers in various parts of the world.

Boston men subscribe to a guarantee fund of $50,000 before a single step was taken toward the exposition, and all of this and considerably more will be expended before the doors are opened on April 4. It is not the purpose, for one of the purposes, of the exposition to make a financial profit. If it can so increase knowledge of the work of Christian missions and arouse interest and sympathy for the work, the exposition will be in a line with its main purpose. So far as the exposition itself is concerned, its promoters will be fully satisfied if it pays its own way and enables the treasurer to refund to the guarantors the money which they have advanced.

Believing "The World in Boston" would create a desire for missionary exhibitions in other cities, the promoters interested a group of well-to-do men in the enterprise. A plan has been developed under which there has been organized the Missionary Exposition company. This company will construct permanent material which will be used in "The World in Boston" exposition, and after it has closed will be returned on liberal terms to committees in other large cities of the United States and Canada that desire to hold expositions. The company will have a small permanent staff which will aid in the organization and management of missionary expositions. The Young People's Missionary Movement controls the Missionary Exposition company. The corporation's purpose is educational. Should any profit accrue, however, from the rental of exhibition material, after the repayment of subscriptions to the company's capital, it will go into the treasury of the Young People's Missionary Movement.

IN PLACE OF TOWPATH MULE

Giant Locomotives to Haul Ocean Steamers Through Waters of Panama Canal.

Instead of the familiar old towpath mule, giant electric locomotives will move the shipping through the Panama canal locks. The ordinary locomotive would spin its wheels ineffectively upon the usual form of steel rail when its draughts felt the weight of a 20,000-ton warship, but the big electric locomotives will be geared to the tracks by a middle rail cut into the form of a rack, giving enormous traction power.

Millions of pounds of steel will be required for the construction of these tracks at the lock abutments, and within the next week or two the canal commission will start the work by advertising for 8,000 tons of track material. Some of the larger items are 3,212,541 pounds of steel cross-ties, 1,934,210 pounds of rolled steel conductor slot covers, 6,551,000 pounds of carbon steel rack castings and 1,273,000 pounds of steel channels. About 2,000 tons of 90-pound steel rails for towing systems will also be wanted.

The commission will install this rack railroad itself, allowing two years for the work, so as to keep pace with the lock construction.

Savings by Dig Corporations.

There has been some little agitation lately about the possible saving in the various branches of railroading, both in such a gigantic system of railroads economy could be brought into play in various branches, with a resultant saving of respectable fortunes, but the public is little aware of the plans which great corporations go to effect a saving in details of their work. A company capitalized in the millions is looked upon as such a huge institution that one cannot conceive of its managers attempting to save a few cents on minor processes, and yet a recent report of the Chicago Railways company gives striking evidence to the contrary, and proves the necessity of such saving in the biggest corporations.

By some experimenting this company ascertained that by installing tantalum lamps in its cars it could save five cents a day for each car in service. A thousand cars already have been equipped with the new lighting system, and this means a saving of $18,000 a year; while if every car in the service were thus equipped the company would gain $55,000 a year. As one may well see, these minor economies cannot be ignored.

How McAllister Lost His Job.

Joe McAllister went to sleep on the job Thursday night at the Louisville and Nashville round house and the fire in the engine which was to pull the early morning train went out.

It was some time before the fire could be built and steam raised, and when the train left here it was 50 minutes late. It lost time all the way to Paris, and when it arrived it was about two hours late. Joe got paid off right there.—Mayville Independent.

DR. J. H. JEWETT—English Novelist who has been made pastor of Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church in New York City.

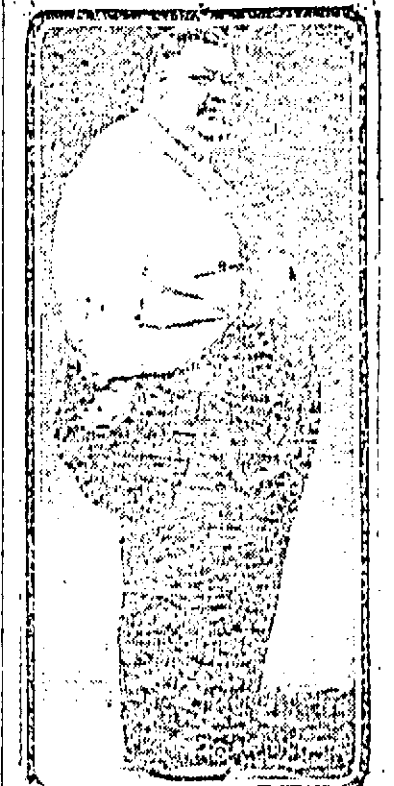

New York, N. Y.—Another English clergyman has been called to New York City in the person of Rev. Dr. J. H. Jewett.

One Conductor Helped Back to Work. Mr. Wilford Adams is his name, and he writes: "I was confined to my bed with rheumatism and used two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy with good effect. The third bottle put me on my feet and I resumed work as conductor on the Lexington, Ky., Street Railway. It will do all you claim in cases of rheumatism."

Foley's Kidney Remedy always thins the blood. Specially recommended for elderly people. Indger Drug Co.

J. H. Jewett, an evangelist of international fame, preached his first sermon in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church last Sunday and it was one long to be remembered by the crowds which thronged the church. He is an energetic and enthusiastic speaker, forceful in language as well as in action.

Dr. Jewett's plans for work in New York carry with them earnest efforts on the part of the church members. He expects to organize them into neighborhood workers and to secure their enthusiastic support in helping the less fortunate. What success he will have remains to be seen.

CHAMPION FAT MAN OF THE WORLD, CHARLES H. JACKSON.

Brooklyn, Mass.—Charles H. Jackson of this city is the champion fat man of the world. There's no getting around that. For he tips the scales at 532 pounds, and this is attested by the official records of the New England Fat Men's Club, which he has just joined. Mr. Jackson is none of your round, butterball, roly-poly chaps. He stands 6 feet in his stockings and beside him Alfred J. Wallingford, official weigher of the New England Fat Men's club, who is 4 feet 11 inches tall and weighs 155 pounds, is a mere plump.

It is announced that Mr. Jackson and his rival, Moulton of Portland, weight 476 pounds, will be matched for a sparring contest at the annual convention of the New England Fat Men's club, to be held here in June. Jackson says he will also enter the sprint baseball game, broad and high jumps, which will be the features of the outing day. At the special mass meeting, June 27, it is hoped that 2,000 fat men will be present.

LOOK AT YOUR WIFE

"Happy the man who has a healthy, happy wife," says an old philosopher. Look at your wife—is she rosy-cheeked, well and strong? Or have wrinkles come between years before they should, because she has worked too hard?

The daily round of housework and home duties soon wear a woman out unless she is careful to guard her health—and most women think of all the rest of the family first. When your wife is pale, nervous and run-down, get her a bottle of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil. It will bring back the rosy to her cheeks and make her strong again. Many blooming matrons of forty or fifty owe their youthful appearance to Vinol. Mr. N. L. Shelton of Newark, Ohio, says Vinol restored his sickly wife to health. You take no risk—no give back the money unless Vinol does as we say.

PHYSICIANS SAID APPENDICITIS

Gallstones Expelled by the Great Kidney Preparation.

I thought I would do you a favor and let you know what Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root has done for me so far.

About one year ago I was taken sick with a terrible pain in my right side. My family physician pronounced it appendicitis. About two weeks ago I received your Almanac and read in it about weak kidneys, and my back hurting me so much I thought I would try your Swamp-Root and to my great astonishment, after using one bottle, I expelled three gallstones, which weighed 135 grains—just think of it. My kidneys are not well yet, and so I have concluded to continue with Swamp-Root. Mr. Schwabe, the druggist, thought it never was appendicitis and that the doctor had made a mistake. It was no doubt gallstones that caused the trouble, or they would not have come away so soon after commencing with Swamp-Root.

I shall always praise Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to all those who suffer from kidney, liver and bladder troubles and am very thankful that I ever discovered such a worthy remedy. I feel confident that it will cure me entirely of all kidney and liver trouble.
